Practice areas:

Public Law, Environment, Major Infrastructure Projects, Compulsory Purchase and Compensation, Highways, Commons and Open Spaces, Planning, ADR, Local Government, Rating

Practice Profile

Richard Honey KC practises as a barrister in the fields of public law and environmental law, with particular specialisms in judicial review and similar statutory challenges, infrastructure projects, compulsory purchase and compensation, and climate change and ESG litigation. He is called to the Bars of England and Wales and Northern Ireland. Richard appears most frequently in the Administrative / Planning Court and in the Upper Tribunal Lands Chamber. He is also an experienced appellate advocate, having appeared in the Court of Appeal 21 times, including 16 appearances as lead/sole counsel, and in the Supreme Court four times. Until he took Silk, he was a member of the Attorney General's A Panel of junior counsel to the Crown, having spent some 12 years on the AG's panels in total.

Richard has been ranked as a leading barrister in four separate fields in both the Chambers UK Bar Guide and Legal 500: local government; environment; planning; and, agriculture and rural affairs. He was the environment/planning junior barrister of the year at the Chambers UK Bar Awards in 2018 (nominated in 2016 also) and was nominated for planning and land use Silk of 2023 in the Legal 500 Bar awards.

In environmental law, Richard has since 2010 been ranked as a leading barrister by both Chambers and Legal 500.

In planning law, Richard has been ranked as a leading barrister by both Chambers (since 2012) and Legal 500 (since 2008). Prior to taking Silk, he was regularly ranked in the top 10 highest rated planning junior barristers in the Planning magazine survey and was ranked top of Band 1 in Chambers 2020 and the 2021 Legal 500. As a Silk, Richard was ranked in the top 30 highest rated planning Silks by Planning magazine in 2022. He is also ranked by Planning magazine as a leading barrister for infrastructure planning.

Richard has also been ranked by Chambers in local government (2014-2015, 2019-2022) and in agriculture and rural affairs (2015-2022), and by the 2023 Legal 500 in local government and agriculture.

Environment

Richard Honey KC's experience as a barrister in the field of environmental law and regulation includes climate change, emissions trading, habitats and protected species, air quality, clean air zones, statutory nuisance, waste, contaminated land, pesticides, chemicals, drinking water, watercourses, riparian rights, environmental permitting, packaging waste, nuisance, civil liability for pollution, environmental crime, environmental information and environmental taxation.

Richard's clients have included regulators such as Defra, Natural England and the Environment Agency, regulated operators such as Thames Water, Anglian Water and Severn Trent Water, and businesses and developers of various types. Richard has acted for Natural England in a number of judicial review challenges to species licences, including in relation to developments such as an energy-from-waste plant and an urban extension.

Linked to his wide-ranging environmental law practice, Richard has experience in advising on and litigating environmental, social and governance (ESG) disputes, including climate change, emissions trading, biodiversity, and business and human rights. He has advised the UK government on international climate, environmental and biodiversity treaty obligations, and has advised funders on the environmental assessment of infrastructure projects in west and southern Africa and the Middle East.

Richard's experience of climate change legislation goes back to 2007–2008, when he undertook advisory and drafting work on the Climate Change Bill. He has particular experience of climate change risk assessment and climate litigation risk management, including in relation to implementing the Task Force on Climate-Related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) recommendations and the Equator Principles (EP4). He has acted in a number of contentious climate change cases for BEIS/DESNZ, HM Treasury, UK Export Finance, DfT and DLUHC/MHCLG, including:

- R (Friends of the Earth & SLACC) v SSLUHC – challenge to grant of planning permission for Cumbria coal mine
- R (Friends of the Earth) v Secretary of State for International Trade & HM Treasury [2023] 1 WLR 2011 (CA), [2022] EWHC 568 (Admin) (Div Ct) – export finance in relation to a LNG project in Mozambique
- R (Friends of the Earth, Client Earth & Good Law Project) v Secretary of State for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy [2023] 1 WLR 225 – challenges to the Net Zero Strategy
- R (Plan B) v Prime Minister & HM Treasury [2021] EWHC 3469 (Admin) – climate change and human rights
- R (Elliott-Smith) v Secretary of State for Business, Energy & Industrial Strategy [2021] PTSR 1795 – UK emissions trading scheme
- Bioabundance v South Oxon DC & SSHCLG [2021] EWHC 1188 (Admin) – climate change in local plan making

Richard has acted for defendants being sentenced under the Definitive Guideline for Environmental Offences in both Magistrates' and Crown Courts, and was instructed on the first appeal against sentence under the guideline to the Court of Appeal Criminal Division: EA v Thames Water [2015] 1 WLR 4411, [2015] Crim LR 739.

Major Infrastructure Projects

Richard's experience of major infrastructure projects includes schemes under the Planning Act, the Highways Act, the Transport and Works Act and the Electricity Act, and parliamentary hybrid Bill work, having been instructed for a number of HS2 and Crossrail petitioners, including multiple appearances before the select committees for both Bills, in both the Commons and the Lords. He is a member of the Parliamentary Bar Mess and was in the top 15 highest rated barristers for infrastructure work in Planning magazine's 2023 survey.

Richard has provided strategic advice on a variety of infrastructure schemes, including on road and rail schemes for DfT and on flood management schemes for the Environment Agency, including the Oxford flood alleviation scheme, the new Thames Barrier and the River Thames scheme. Richard successfully promoted the £100 million Boston flood barrier TWA Order for the Environment Agency at inquiry.

Richard advised Natural England on the DCO applications for Hinkley Point C nuclear power station, Able Marine Energy Park on the Humber, and North West Coast Connections. He has advised National Highways on issues arising from a number of DCO and TWAO schemes. Richard has also advised DLUHC and DfT on legal issues in relation to the acceptance, examination and determination of a number of DCO applications, as well as rights of entry for DCO schemes.

Compulsory Purchase and Compensation

Richard is the General Editor of the Compulsory Purchase & Compensation Service (Bloomsbury Professional online) and The Law of Compulsory Purchase (Bloomsbury Professional, 4th edition 2022).

Richard has extensive experience of compulsory purchase, including defending and challenging compulsory purchase instruments in the High Court, and advising and representing numerous CPO promoters (including housing, planning and highway authorities and utilities companies), CPO objectors (including Transport for London and businesses) and CPO development partners. He has advised the Environment Agency on a number of compulsory purchase and rights matters, and various statutory undertakers on their works powers. In recent years, Richard successfully promoted housing, highways, planning, flood defence and utilities CPOs – often securing confirmation without the need for an inquiry.

Richard's compulsory purchase work has encompassed for example acquisition of rights over land, compulsory works orders, exercise of statutory works powers, powers of entry, omitted interests, vesting, material detriment, accommodation works, temporary possession, the Crichel Down rules, purchase notices and blight notices.

Richard appeared for the successful respondent in Anixter v SSfT, in both the Tribunal ([2019] 1 P&CR 16) and the Court of Appeal ([2020] 1 WLR 2547), concerning the general vesting declaration regime, expiring tenancies and material detriment. He successfully defended the CPO in the High Court in Burgos & Amayo v SSHCLG & Haringey LBC [2019] EWHC 2792 (Admin). He was also junior counsel for the successful claimant in R (Manydown) v Basingstoke & Deane BC [2012] JPL 1188 which concerned ss226 and 227 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990.

Richard has very considerable experience of disputes relating to land valuation and compulsory purchase compensation. Richard has been instructed in Upper Tribunal Lands Chamber proceedings on behalf of HS2, NNB Generation Co, Network Rail, Crossrail, Transport for London, the London Development Agency, the Greater London Authority, Merseytravel, National Highways, the Welsh Ministers, the Environment Agency, the Secretary of State for Transport, National Grid, a port authority, county highway authorities, statutory undertakers and a variety of local authorities. Richard's work as sole barrister representing acquiring authorities has included matters where up to £70 million in compensation for compulsory purchase was in dispute.

Richard has also represented claimants in compensation cases, including businesses such as Bombardier/Alstom, Homebase, and JD Wetherspoon, as well as developers, investors, farmers, landowners and public authorities. He acted as junior counsel for the claimant in arbitration proceedings in Bermuda.

Richard's experience of compensation disputes includes the full range of issues such as valuation of land taken, severance, injurious affection (s7 and s10), acquisition of rights, rule 6 disturbance, business losses, business extinguishment, rule 3, rule 4, rule 5 equivalent reinstatement, planning assumptions, scheme disregards (statutory and Pointe Gourde), betterment, loss payments, taxation, fees/costs, and Part 1 claims. Richard has also worked on cases involving blight notices and purchase notices, highway stopping-up, planning decisions, flood defences, land drainage, utilities, wayleaves – and cases arising from compulsory purchase orders, DCOs, Transport and Works Act Orders and hybrid Acts.

Richard was the barrister who represented the acquiring authority in the first compensation claim to reach the Tribunal arising from the 2012 Olympics CPO, where some £2m was in dispute (Singh v LDA [2010] RVR 41). He also represented the acquiring authority in Welford v Transport for London, both in the Tribunal ([2010] RVR 200) and in the Court of Appeal ([2011] RVR 172).

Richard was instructed as junior counsel for a county highway authority defending a compensation claim of around £15m arising from a road scheme (see Clemdell v Dorset CC [2009] RVR 318), and the injurious affection cases of Moto Hospitality v Secretary of State for Transport [2008] 1 WLR 2822 and Bourne Leisure v Great Yarmouth Port Authority [2016] RVR 371. He was also junior counsel in William Hill v Crossrail [2016] RVR 258.

Richard has appeared as sole counsel for the successful respondents in cases such as Ramac v Kent CC [2014] RVR 207, Miller v NRIL [2014] RVR 305, Elitestone v National Grid [2015] RVR 392, and 599 Developments v NNB Generation [2020] RVR 64 on Hinkley Point C.

Richard represented the Secretary of State in Harringay Meat Traders v SSCLG [2013] PTSR 436, a High Court challenge to a decision on a certificate of appropriate alternative development appeal.

Richard has also been instructed for defendants in professional negligence litigation arising from the conduct of Tribunal proceedings.

Richard has also been instructed by HMRC solicitors in High Court and tribunal rating and valuation cases, including Listing Officer v Callear [2013] RVR 34 and a number of Upper Tribunal cases concerning the valuation of public houses for rating purposes.

Highways, Commons and Open Spaces

Richard also has considerable advocacy and advisory experience of the law in relation to commons and village greens. Richard was leading counsel for the Open Spaces Society in their successful intervention in the Court of Appeal in Darwall v Dartmoor NPA & OSS [2023] EWCA Civ 927, which dealt with the right of access to the Dartmoor commons for the purposes of open-air recreation.

As a barrister, Richard has successfully represented a number of landowners objecting to village green applications at inquiry. He has also acted in judicial review proceedings for and against registration authorities, and for applicants, and advised registration authorities and landowners. Richard has also sat as an inspector at village green inquiries on a number of occasions. He is co-editor of Gadsden & Cousins on Commons and Greens (3rd edition, 2020) published by Sweet & Maxwell.

Richard is familiar with the law of highways and has advised on a range of matters including public and private rights of way, street works, traffic management, traffic regulation, parking, roads orders, stopping-up and diversion orders, bridge orders and highways development. He has promoted stopping-up and diversion orders at inquiry and been instructed by the Secretary of State to defend High Court proceedings challenging public rights of way inspectors' decisions on definitive map modification and stopping-up orders.

Richard has experience of countryside law, and has advised Natural England on a number of matters connected with national park and AONB designations. He was junior counsel for Natural England in the re-opened South Downs National Park inquiry, where the inspector was persuaded to change his recommendation, to support the confirmation of the park largely as designated by Natural England. He advised Natural England on the establishment of the South Downs National Park Authority and on a variety of national park and AONB designation and management issues. Richard represented Natural England at the inquiry which led to the successful confirmation of the orders to expand the Lake District and Yorkshire Dales National Parks.

Planning

Richard's practice includes a significant element of planning law. Richard regularly advises on and appears in public law challenges to planning decisions in the Planning Court, for claimants, defendants and interested parties. This includes judicial reviews, challenges to planning appeal decisions under s288, and local plan challenges under s113. He has particular experience of litigation relating to the interpretation of the NPPF, housing land supply, and environmental and habitats assessment. Richard's advisory work for DLUHC/MHCLG has included legislative reforms, special development orders, local plan intervention, propriety matters, and a wide variety of planning casework decision-making, including many of the most high profile decisions in the last decade.

Richard's planning inquiry work often has an environmental aspect and has included wind farms and airports. He has also appeared at inquiries successfully resisting appeals for housing schemes involving housing land supply arguments and has advised and represented local planning authorities promoting local plans.

ADR

Richard has considerable experience of arbitration and mediation. He has been a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators since 2001 – having won the CIArb President's Prize for award writing – and is available to act as arbitrator. He has advised on arbitration law and procedure in connection with Lands Tribunal and other domestic and international arbitration proceedings and has represented parties in both international and domestic arbitrations. Richard has been a member of the CIArb Faculty and taught on a number of the CIArb's domestic and international arbitration courses. He has also acted as a party representative in many successful mediations, especially disputes on compensation for compulsory purchase, for both claimants and respondents.

Northern Ireland

Richard is a full member of the Bar Library in Belfast, having been called to the Bar of Northern Ireland in 2013. He is a member of the Senior Panel of counsel for the Government Legal Service for Northern Ireland. Richard has advised a number of local authorities on both development management and development plan matters, including Mid Ulster DC, Fermanagh & Omagh DC, Causeway Coast & Glens BC, and Derry City & Strabane DC. He has appeared before the Judicial Review Court and the Planning Appeals Commission. Richard appeared for the applicant in the judicial review case of Re Sands [2018] NIQB 80 and represented Chris Murphy in his application for permission to appeal to the Supreme Court in relation to the construction of the A6. He also appeared for the Alternative A5 Alliance in their 2016 judicial review of the programme for government, the 2016 roads inquiry, the 2017–2018 High Court challenge, and their intervention in the Reference by the Attorney General for Northern Ireland (No 2) [2019] UKSC 1. Richard is a member of the Northern Ireland Public Law Bar Association, the Northern Ireland Planning Bar Association and the Environmental and Planning Law Association of Northern Ireland.
